

Sutton Landcare Birdwalk

Sunday 30 October 2016

Sutton Landcare is hosting a Birdwalk in the Mulligans Flat Woodlands Sanctuary on Sunday 30 October. The Sanctuary is well known for its abundant bird life. The Ranger-in-Charge notes that the different habitats provide a home and feeding place for more than 160 native bird species!

The birdwalk will be led by Nicki Taws, a renowned bird expert with Greening Australia.

We will meet in the Mulligans Flat Sanctuary carpark. The carpark is located in Amy Ackman Drive near Jessie Street in the suburb of Forde. Do wear sturdy boots and binoculars might be handy.

Leaving at 7:30am sharp we will walk up to the Sanctuary gate and begin the birdwalk. At around 9.00 am we will finish with a healthy breakfast at the old woolshed in the Sanctuary.

Landcare members, friends and their families are welcome to attend. Hopefully the weather will be kind to us and we can enjoy the walk and the birds in the magnificent Spring we are currently experiencing.

To assist with catering would you please contact our Secretary Marchien Van Oostende on 62736295 or by email at Sutton.landcare@gmail.com

We look forward to seeing you there.
